
Care to guess the origin of this curious and macabre image? (We found it on the office door of pulmonary expert Tim Oury. His story is on p. 11.)

a. Painted by Vincent van Gogh, probably in the winter of 1885–86, when he was enrolled at an art academy in Antwerp.

b. Propaganda art from the 1956 U.S. government-issued comic book Death by Tobacco!

c. Illustration from the inside jacket of the Grateful Dead's 1970 album, American Beauty.

See the credit line (below left) to learn the correct answer.

PAINTING BY VINCENT VAN GOGH. AMSTERDAM, VAN GOGH MUSEUM (VINCENT VAN GOGH FOUNDATION)