

“First do no harm” was good advice. But this looks like a case of too much of a good thing. If you could let us know who these men are and what they’re trying to accomplish, we’d be indebted, or at least grateful, to you. See the magazine contact information on our inside front cover.